A Correction

In the article "A Copper-Pipe Vertical Sleeved Dipole" (May-June 2016 TCA), reader Patrick Anthony, VA3PAF, alerted me to an error in Figure 3, "Exploded assembly view". The dimension of 40.75" for the length of the dipole portion, should have been 38.75". Thanks Patrick.

Also, in hindsight, I should have included a note as follows: "The dimensions shown are for guidance. If you build the design, your version may differ slightly, due to assembly variations with the copper fittings used, soldering etc."

Regards, Don Dorward, VA3DDN
